City Income Tax Collections In '63 Totaled $212,236

JOHNSON CUTS BUDGET TO $97.9 BILLION

Salem's city income tax added $212,236.02 to the coffers during calendar 1963, Auditor Helen Coyne informed Council at its first meeting of the new year Tuesday at City Hall.

The total is $14,387.60 over the $197,848.42 taken in last year and sets a new high for the three years the tax law has been in existence.

A break-down of the total shows $168,468.88 came from employers withholding, $23,498.48 from business returns, $20,068.66 from individual returns and $200 in penalties.

Of the total collected, 58.8 per cent or $124,794.78 went into the general fund, 39.2 per cent or $83,196.52 was placed in the capital improvement fund and the remaining two per cent or $4,244.72 was used in the operation of the tax office.

Disbursements for the operation of the office shows $6,085.25 paid in salaries, $1,091.61 spent for printing and incidentals, $378.94 for the city share of the pension fund, $116.85 for workmen compensation and $1,957.64 used to refund overpayment of taxes.

Total cost of running the office was $9,630.29. The difference between the total funneled to that fund in '63 and the actual amount spent nearly depleted the balance carried over from the previous year, the Auditor said.

Disbursements Shown

Disbursements from the capital improvement fund during the year included: chip and asphalt, $8,508.80; extension of W. 2nd St., $19,911.26; new truck for the street department, $3,756; Aetna St. improvement, $6.84; Jennings Ave. improvement, $5,302.90; relocation of S. Ellsworth Ave. storm sewers, $6,356.24; traffic controls, $2,751.85; Hillsdale Addition sewer, $5,263.54; overpass, $43,407.78; payment of half of overpass note including interest, $18,287.50; city's share of A & P sewer line, $12,682.51; cost of right of way for sewer line, $1,518.75; and improvements on 2nd and Columbia Sts. and Broadway, $413.

The auditor remarked that several projects already started are not completed and further payments in 1964 will be necessary.

The total money disbursed for capital improvements during 1963 was $128,167.09 with a $35,000 loan for the overpass, $11,691.04 payment from the Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation for its share of the A & P sewer line and a $2,433.42 transfer being added to the fund, leaving a balance at the first of 1964 of $30,043.69.

However, Mrs. Coyne stated she will pay the remaining $17,500 plus interest the city still owes on the overpass loan which will leave the balance at approximately $12,500.

Mrs. Coyne estimates that an additional $40,000 of the 1963 taxes will be collected before the deadline date of Jan. 31 and will be distributed to the three funds.

The auditor said that this year 57 per cent of income tax monies will be put into the general fund, 30 per cent will go into the capital improvement fund and five per cent will be used for operation of the tax office.

Three-Month Appropriation Measure Okayed By Council

A record three-month temporary appropriation of $222,217.81 was passed by City Council at its 1964 inaugural meeting Tuesday night.

The appropriation, which is passed routinely at the first of every year, is necessary so that payrolls and other expenditures necessary for the proper function of the city can be paid until the full appropriation is prepared, usually late in March.

The figure is $7,763.95 over the $214,453.86 first quarter appropriation made at the start of 1963.

A break-down of the appropriation follows:

General fund, $102,616; street maintenance and repair, $27,300; park fund, $6,820.51; park capital improvement, $5,000; food service, $250; income tax department, $2,550; sewage department, $18,996; water department, $58,614.23 and bond retirement fund, $71.07.

Appointments Made

In other action last night, Council elected Ralph Zimmerman president pro tem and named Charles Gibbs and Harold Astry to the zoning board and Zimmerman and Astry to the fire and police pension board.

Charles Alexander, who has served as clerk of Council for the past six years was re-elected in a secret ballot vote over John E. Crawford, an employee of the E. W. Bliss Co.

Council also temporarily adopted the out-going Council's rules until the new rules and ordinances committee has had time to study possible changes. Mayor Dean B. Cranmer's re-appointments of Dr. Paul Corso to the Board of Health for a five-year term and Ben Barrett to the Park Commission for three years were approved.

Mayor Cranmer told Council he had instructed all his department heads to meet with the finance committee to discuss their 1964 budgets and said that the service and safety directors were compiling a list of equipment in use in their divisions and the equipments' condition.

Cranmer said those lists should be ready by Council's next regular session Jan. 21 along with a report from Fire Chief Elmer Bush indicating

LBJ Gives Union Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today a surprise budget cut to $97.9 billion, even below the current level. And he told Congress he will slash output of weapon-making uranium by 25 per cent — a move he challenged the Soviets to match.

In an unusually brief yet meaty State of the Union message, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of Congress, Johnson also declared "unconditional war on poverty in America." He ticked off his specific policy ideas for the first time since he became President seven weeks ago following the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's proposals — many requiring action by Congress — were aimed at problems ranging from the depths of poverty to the height of the moon.

For most taxpayers, the biggest surprise probably lay in the budget disclosures. At $97.9 billion, the first Johnson spending plan would be $500 million smaller than the latest estimate of spending under Kennedy's final record-setting budget.

Johnson described his budget as "efficient, honest and frugal." And he said it will maintain "the full strength of our defenses" while providing "the most federal support in history for education, for health, for retraining the unemployed, and for helping the economically and physically handicapped."

Endorsing some two dozen proposals in about 2,900 words, the chief executive urged Congress to bring his programs "to a fair and final vote." He called for the strongest civil rights bill in 100 years, enactment of a massive tax cut by Feb. 1, new steps toward disarmament and selective increases in overtime pay rates.

Other Johnson programs — many inherited from Kennedy — included broader minimum wage coverage, hospital insurance for the aged, an end to discriminatory immigration quotas, a bigger housing program, and a determined effort — preferably in cooperation with the Soviet Union — to put a man on the moon by 1970.

Prosperity at home and peace in the world were the broad goals "it is the President's duty to balance conciliation and determination in discussing cold war problems."

"We intend to bury no one — and we do not intend to be buried. We can fight, if we must, as we have fought before — but we pray we will never have to fight again," the President said.

As for specific administration policies, Johnson made these major points in the election year address intended to set the tone for the 1964 congressional session:

— Federal spending in the 1965 fiscal year that begins July 1 is scheduled to total $97.9 billion — comfortably below Johnson's announced target of $100 billion. Forecast revenues of $93 billion indicate a deficit of $4.9 billion, or less than half the fiscal 1964 estimate.

— Production of enriched uranium, used in nuclear weapons and small reactors like those in nuclear submarines, will be slashed 25 per cent by June 30 — the first cutback since the first atomic bomb was dropped in 1945. Said Johnson: "We call on our adversaries to do the same." And he justified

Things To Do

Unfinished Council Business Pointed Out by Rance

"Things To Do."

That appeared to be Councilman Jack Rance's topic when he addressed fellow members of Council near the conclusion of Tuesday night's session.

Rance stated that there are several matters which were often discussed but never acted upon by the previous Council, which he feels should be taken into consideration during 1964. The first thing mentioned by Rance was requests made by the fire, police and service departments concerning pay hikes or extra "fringe" benefits.

"I think these requests should be taken under consideration by the appropriate committee," Rance said. He added that he has made a study of pay scales and benefits in cities of comparable populations and said he would be willing to present his information at any time.

Urges Street Program

Next on the list was Rance's suggestion that a long-range street improvement program be drawn up. "Not one for just this year, but for four or five years," he said.

Action on "the appointment of a city building inspector was also urged. "I think we all agreed that such an appointment would free the city engineer."

Annexation Of Perry Twp. Tract Nearly Complete

The only thing delaying the annexation of 100 acres of Perry Township to the city is a copy of the transcript of the Columbiana County Commissioners' authorization of the move.

City Solicitor Thomas Coe told Council last night that as soon as the transcript is received from the commissioners, he will draw up the necessary ordinances completing the annexation, for Council's approval.

The area involved is along both the north and south sides of Rt. 14 just east of the city. Most of the land on the north side is vacant, while the tract on the south side includes several business establishments and a housing development.

Annexation of the land has been "in the wind" for quite sometime, but recent action by the land-owners and residents of the area as well as the city has brought the project to a conclusion.

A public hearing on the matter was held Dec. 23 in the commissioners' office at the court house in Lisbon and at that time no opposition was given. The commissioners gave their approval Dec. 30.

Britain Defends Cuba Buses Sale

LONDON (AP)—The British government says it won't stop the sale of $11.2 million worth of British buses and spare parts to Cuba because they aren't strategic goods.

The Board of Trade, Britain's equivalent of the U.S. Commerce Department, shrugged off U.S. criticism of a deal that will help restore the Castro regime's crippled public transportation system.

"Manufacturers are at liberty to sell as and when they find the opportunity," said a Board of Trade spokesman. "There has never been a boycott on the country by Britain. That is the situation and we don't see any reason to depart from this at present. We have quite an extensive trade with Cuba."

Under a five-year credit arrangement, Leyland Motors Ltd. will sell 400 buses and $1.1 million worth of spare parts to Cuba. The company said it expects an order for 1,050 additional buses.

"You would look damned silly going to war in a bus," said Leyland's managing director, Donald Stokes, today. "Anyway, we haven't any war with Cuba and we buy sugar from them."

Stokes said the company in April will begin shipping about 100 buses a month by East German freighters. He said his company had turned to Communist shipping because of the U.S. blacklist on ships that carry cargo to Cuba.

A spokesman for Leyland indicated the manufacturer would be happy to accept further orders from Havana.

Mrs. Mallory Hopes For Extradition Stay

CLEVELAND (AP) — An attorney for Willie Mae Mallory today awaited a last-minute stay of execution from the U.S. Supreme Court, hoping it would arrive in time for the Negro woman who for more than two years has fought extradition to North Carolina.

The attorney, Walter S. Haffner, promised if the stay did not arrive Mrs. Mallory would surrender today to sheriff's deputies.

Sheriff James J. McGettrick sent a man to Mrs. Mallory's East Side apartment Tuesday after receiving notice that the Supreme Court had turned down a request for a rehearing of the case. But Mrs. Mallory was not at the apartment. She had learned of the high court's action from newsmen, whom she told

"There is no justice in this country for a black person," Mrs. Mallory said before she

Starts N. Hampshire Hand-Shaking Tour

Goldwater Hits Campaign Trail

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater — saying he was encouraged and surprised by his reception in the nation's first primary state—hits the hand-shaking trail across southern New Hampshire today to press his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I'm very, very pleasantly surprised," Goldwater said Tuesday night as he completed the first day of his New Hampshire campaign.

He shook hundreds of hands, signed dozens of autographs—and urged his campaign workers not to let the battle for the nomination produce bitterness that would divide the Republican party next November.

"This is one of the most encouraging turnouts, one of the most encouraging experiences I've ever had," Goldwater told a standing-room-only crowd of campaign workers at the Concord Hotel.

The hotel also houses the headquarters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, only other avowed candidate for the GOP nomination.

Goldwater told reporters he expects other Republicans—perhaps former Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine — also will be on the ballot for the March 10 New Hampshire primary.

The Arizona senator said his own polls rate him a 3-1 front runner in New Hampshire, but that could change if other Re-

Party Unity Big Problem For GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prime question faced the Republican high command today as it assembled for strategy sessions looking toward the November elections.

How to pick a presidential nominee without going through so many bitter donnybrooks that the party would be disunited for the November showdown?

This issue was not on the formal agenda of the Republican National Committee as it assembled for four days of talks on how to get out the vote, how to attract financing, how to cut down Democratic margins in big cities such as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia.

But the harmony issue was on the mind, for example, of Ray C. Bliss, Ohio Republican chairman and GOP powerhouse. In effect, he posted over his state's May 5 primary a "please keep out" sign addressed to major aspirants for the presidential nomination.

The Ohio plan is this: The delegation will go to the national convention pledged to Gov. James Rhodes as a favorite son. Ohioans are expected to vote for him on the first ballot—where they might jump after that Bliss was not prepared to say.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, electioneering in New Hampshire, remarked that he might find it desirable to enter Ohio's primary. Bliss expressed the hope that Goldwater and all other major candidates would abstain, in the interests of avoiding a "divisive" fight.

A similar plan is under way in Wisconsin. There Rep. John W. Byrnes has agreed to run as a favorite son.

The Democratic National Committee, convening here Saturday, has no such worries about slugging matches for the presidential nomination, since President Johnson is considered a sure bet.

The big question, not likely to be publicly decided before the convention, is: Whom will Johnson choose as his running mate?

For this spot, the stock of Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy is, at the moment, soaring.

An opinion that Johnson will be easier to beat in November than Kennedy would have been voiced Tuesday by Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan. Preserving his official stance as a non-candidate, Romney informed the National Press Club he was amenable to a draft—as he said any concerned citizen would be duty-bound to be.

Romney May Be Republicans Middle-Man Standard-Bearer

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney's sudden availability for a draft for the Republican presidential nomination may be more of a strategic political move than a tactical one.

In announcing to a National Press Club audience Tuesday that he would have a duty to accept a genuine draft, Romney—in the view of some observers—could well have been making a calculated power play.

Recent statements by the governor indicate he wants to play a more important role in national politics.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Romney said: "What happens nationally has an important bearing on what happens to Michigan, and I certainly hope to pursue a course of activities that would permit me to have some influence on what might happen nationally in 1964."

If it had not been a certainty before, Romney assuredly will be placed in nomination on the first ballot at the San Francisco convention next July — probably as Michigan's "favorite son."

Since he can be expected to draw a number of votes from other state delegations, the governor may find himself playing an important role in deciding who gets the nomination.

He could to this by throwing his support to one candidate or another if a deadlock develops.

Or, if his strength picks up on the second ballot, Romney might go all the way to the nomination as a compromise candidate standing somewhere between New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Romney has made no secret that he has reservations about some of Goldwater's views, especially regarding civil rights, right-to-work laws and foreign affairs.

While he doesn't share all of Goldwater's views, Romney doesn't happen to share all of Rockefeller's either.

They Fly Through the Air With the Greatest of Grace

"Square dance" routine—12,000 feet up—is a sensational display of skill and timing.

Ann Batterson poses while falling 10,000 feet a minute.

Sky diver Muriel Simbro holds the hoop for a male companion to fly through.

One of the most fantastic ballets in the world takes place thousands of feet in the air. It's performed at a speed of 125 miles an hour — straight down — and requires split-second timing and precise movements. It's over in a matter of seconds.

This is the dance of the sky divers, those parachutists who can perform intricate maneuvers by changing the positions of their arms and legs. It goes on near many airports as sky diving is an increasingly popular sport.

According to one jumper: "You are now seemingly weightless. There is no sensation of falling — no 'elevator feeling.' You are possessed by an unequalled sense of flying."

These photographs of free-falling frolickers which appeared in Flying magazine were taken by Jim Lizzio, himself a veteran of more than 450 jumps, as he plummeted through the sky close to the others.

Trying One On For Size

We keep reading speculation about a forthcoming test of President Johnson's mettle by the Kremlin. His masters will want to find out how he reacts to jabbing by Soviet experts, goes the theory.

This sour prospect makes an American wonder what would happen if President Johnson tested the Kremlin's mettle first, on the reasonable assumption that he who aims the first haymaker has the initial advantage of catching the other party off balance.

It is possible the Johnson haymaker already has been delivered, but in a concealed form.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, U.S. representative to the United Nations General Assembly, may have sent the punch whistling to the Kremlin's chin when he indicated last week the United States would challenge the Soviet Union's right to vote in the General Assembly unless it paid its overdue assessments.

The Soviet Union owes $36,984,971 on the Congo U.N. force and another $15,638,166 on the Middle Eastern force. It is not believed it has held up payment on these two accounts for lack of funds. It is in arrears, it says, because it believes the assessments against it are illegal.

But this is only the Russian view. The assessments are not being held illegal by governments that have paid them—only by the Soviet Union and the governments that have refused to pay them.

IT LONG HAS BEEN obvious that governments in arrears had no intention of paying up as long as they were permitted to stay in the United Nations.

If the United States, which has been making up U.N. deficits, decides to force collection of accounts, beginning with Russia and going through its satellites, the Kremlin may have found out what it needs to know about President Johnson.

It is not to be imagined that the Stevenson threat was made without White House knowledge—and presumably it was made on White House initiative.

If so, the Kremlin report on L. B. Johnson is that he has a fast gun and if you doubt it look at the hole in your hat.

Our School Boards

Boards of education throughout the greater Salem district have reorganized and are prepared to guide their respective school systems through another period of continuing building expansions and curriculum advances.

They know that the needs of an ever-increasing pupil enrollment must be met, that students' thirst for knowledge must be satisfied and that adequate teaching staffs must be maintained.

Interlocked in the day-to-day operation of our many outstanding school districts are many related problems but fortunately the area has many well-qualified, dedicated citizens who served on such boards of education as Salem, West Branch, United Local, Greenford, Western Reserve, Leetonia, Columbiana, Fairfield-New Waterford, Lisbon and Beaver Local. As they begin new terms, some with new presidents at the helm, we wish them what every school board covets—and must have—wholehearted community support.

Support the Drive

Our community can have an appropriate monument erected to the memory of our fallen heroes of World War II and the Korean conflict come Memorial Day—IF the proposal of local veterans organizations receives the support it deserves.

Goal of the current fund drive is $6,000 and the committee still has high hopes of having the permanent marker erected in time on the lawn of the Village Green at the downtown corner of State and Lincoln.

Seventy-two Salem men lost their lives in the last two wars. Surely time has not erased their memories nor the cause for which they fought so gallantly.

Now is the time to lend support to the war memorial fund drive. It will have to come from organizations and individuals as well.

New Year Letter

By Truman Twill

How about an after - New Year letter for people who don't write newsy, cheerful letters in lieu of Christmas cards? Like this:

DEAR FRIENDS: The Broadbottom family wishes you a Happy New Year and is full of high hopes and far-reaching plans.

We are going to get Greg out of the 8th grade this year if it's the last thing we do. This has turned into a point of pride. We know now that Greg has reached his academic limit, but all we are asking is that he be pushed through high school so he won't have to say he never went past the 8th grade. It will be obvious.

The senior Broadbottoms have two items of business at the top of their agenda. Catherine the Great is going to get under 160 pounds by Groundhog Day or crawl into her burrow and never reappear.

Paul the Slasher is going to get under 100 on the links or take up a game suitable to his talents, like matching pennies. We probably should direct our energy to worthwhile things like international peace, or the uplift of Hottentots, but the Broadbottoms aren't on fire any more.

The only major goal we ever set other than breathing in and out, was to get the house paid for before it fell down. We made the last payment late last year, and the house was still standing, but pieces of it are falling down—chunks of the roof, chunks of ceiling etc.

What took all the winds out of our sails, though, was Karen's reaction to higher education, which was going to be a major project, in view of the circumstances. But the poor, sweet child never finished her first semester. She ran away to a Gretna Green and married a player on the football team a week after the season ended. The coach doesn't allow married players so the boy lost his job and he and Karen now are with us temporarily while he looks around for some school in the Southern Conference that needs a 210-lb. offensive guard who can pull in either direction and play linebacker. You should see this behemoth eat. Karen's baby will be born in late May or early June, poor kid.

We are looking forward to the presidential election. You can guess how Paul feels and Catherine, naturally, feels the other way. That is the story of our lives. We always cancelled each other and always will. Happy New Year.

P. S. (in script)

We didn't get any Christmas letter from you, just a card, so we have no news. We never learned how the trial came out, or how much damage termites did to your house before you discovered them when the piano fell into the basement.

Every once in a while we hear about the Wobbleheads. They're doing well. Ernie is now chairman of the board of the Excelsior Live Bait Co. and Sadie is a den mother, with real pups. We never liked the Wobbleheads even if they were your best friends. We all make mistakes.

If you ever get out this way be sure to plan a stopover. As you can imagine with Karen and her football player and Greg at home we're short of room, but there's a motel only two miles away where you would be comfortable. We've given up smoking and drinking but we could go out to dinner and talk over old times.

Annual Checkup

'Labor Man of Year'

By VICTOR RIESEL

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO is known by the enemies he keeps. They are legion—and they have mighty legions.

Among his virulent critics and opponents are the Soviet Union, the underworld, Fidel Castro and Jimmy Hoffa.

Therefore, this column hereby nominates Mr. Meany as the labor man of the year not only in the United States but also across the world.

Few in America realize it, but it was George Meany, speaking just a mile or so from the Soviet sector and later defiantly traveling alone through the isolated streets of Berlin, who first demanded that the Russians rip holes in the wall.

In a tough speech on July 5, 1962, I heard this leader of some 13 million American workers cry out for free passage of Berliners both ways through the Red concrete barriers.

For months after that, the Moscow world radio exoriated the e-Bronx plumber who has frustrated Soviet propaganda operations and terrorism on many continents. Soviet broadcasts became particularly bitter when Meany, though approving the nuclear test ban accord, warned working people everywhere to continue to be suspicious of the Communist international.

"FOUL" they called him—and that was the accolade. They attacked him this last year because he has refused—and has convinced the rest of the AFL-CIO to refuse—to be drawn into "cultural" exchanges with the Soviet Union. There were no labor delegations going to Moscow in '63. Thus, no Soviet "labor" delegations were received and honored in the U.S.

Long ago Meany scorched the Soviet labor organizations with this description: "The so-called Russian trade union movement... has denied to the workers of Soviet Russia the basic freedoms that American workers hold prerequisite to a free nation."

Meany refers to the Soviet-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions as a "fifth column" plotting to undermine the democratic nations.

For years Meany has fought to put substance into the slogans perpetually ground out by labor spokesmen in other nations. He has constantly demanded strong anti-Communist action instead of speeches from the unions in Britain, France, Germany and on all continents.

WHEN FIDEL Castro's terrorists, bribers, ad infiltrators began invading Latin America, Meany invited American industrialists to join with labor in a common fight on Latin Communism. Together, U.S. labor and business launched the American Institute For Free Labor Development to train young Latin against Castro, Khrushchev and Mao.

J. Peter Grace, head of W. R. Grace and Co., became co-leader of the institute with Meany. In the past year it has turned out 120 skilled unionists with no ideology other than a desire to fight for freedom. Among the industry forces working with labor inside the institute is the General Motors Corp.

In Latin America recently I saw the effect of the institute's courses, held in a special building in this city. The Communist international operatives now are getting a run for their big money.

Under Meany's guidance the AFL-CIO "investment division" to help Latin unions build homes for their members.

A LATIN WORKER, able for the first time to house his wife and youngsters decently in a new home of their own, is not apt to run riot under Communist leadership.

The most recent American labor investment—some $10 million—is in a Mexico City housing development. There, the members of the graphic arts union can rent apartments for as little as $22 a month for a one bedroom apartment and $48 a month for three bedrooms.

The project will have schools, shopping centers, office buildings, movie theaters and social centers.

But Meany's work is by far not all international. He started 1963 by fighting for American GIs, as a member of the Randall Commission which is looking into the need for raises for the armed forces. He was the only committeeman to argue for pay increases for the two lowest grades of enlisted men.

Working quietly and off the record, Meany attempted to end the New York newspaper strike and the rail crisis in their early hours.

AT THE CLIMAX of the battle between the railroads and the rail brotherhoods he urged goldfish bowl collective bargaining to be conducted at public sessions of a subcommittee of Congress.

And it is "Stonewall" Meany who has kept Jimmy Hoffa out of the AFL-CIO—thus keeping Hoffa off the federation's high council where the Teamster could wield even greater power.

For his statesmanship in some of the most critical areas of our society, Meany easily is the world's labor man of the year—and of the decade.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When I read that letter from the young mother who shrieked at her four children all day and was a nervous wreck, it made me feel better. I thought I was the only mother in the world who acted like that. I found myself wishing she was from Illinois so maybe we would wind up in the same mental hospital.

I, too, would like to have a spotless house and a lovely meal on the table when Frank comes home at night. But how can I with four little kids and an invalid mother-in-law to take care of? And then there's the washing, ironing, mending, marketing and cooking. Last night I had to drop everything and iron a white shirt for Frank to wear to his lodge meeting. He called me a "disorganized nitwit." He yelled it so loudly I'm sure the children heard him.

I'm a nervous wreck and can't even find time to take my tranquilizer pills. Please help me. — SKIN AND BONES.

Dear Skin: This advice is for Frank: Hire a woman to come in at least one day a week so your wife can enjoy a change of scenery and repair her shattered nerves.

If you think you can't afford it, compare the cost with a full time housekeeper for your children after your wife breaks down completely.

After the Bowling Dear Ann: I'm 49 years old, have been divorced for 10 years and share an apartment with my mother.

I usually bowl Saturday and Sunday afternoons with a friend but last Friday evening, on the spur of the moment, I decided to go over and bowl a few lines by myself. My mother really blew up. She said no respectable girl goes alone to a place that has a lounge and sells liquor.

I don't drink—in fact, I hate the smell of the stuff. And I'm no longer either, if you know what I mean. Some girls undoubtedly get picked up at bowling alleys but these same girls would get picked up in theaters, in restaurants or ball parks.

Will you please settle this?—JENNIE.

Dear Jennie: A 49-year-old woman who wishes to go bowling on a Friday evening doesn't need to check with her mother.

I do feel, however, that it makes a great deal more sense to go bowling with a friend rather than alone. You not only protect yourself from gossip but you have more fun. On Dotted Line

Dear Ann: Five months ago a salesman came to the house and told me someone had suggested my name as an excellent prospect for a sales training course. He said I had the makings of an executive and if I took the course I could earn a lot of money.

I signed what I thought was an application but it was really a contract. Within three days I received a letter saying I owed them $350. I wrote, explaining that I didn't realize I had signed up for the course and I did not want to take it.

The reply came by special delivery. It said I had to pay the money whether I took the course or not.

Please tell me if three is anything I can do to get out of this. I would have to borrow the debt. Thank you.—J.S.

Dear J.S.: This sounds like a racket. Contact your Better Business Bureau. And next time don't sign anything unless you know precisely what you are doing.

GOP's Stake In '64

By DAVID LAWRENCE

More than the statement of a single individual's intention is involved in the announcement made by Sen. Barry Goldwater that he will seek the Republican presidential nomination. It marks indeed the beginning of a critical period in the life of the Republican party. This is because many Republicans feel that the Arizona senator is the only one of their party's presidential aspirants who is committed to principles which are substantially different from those of the Democratic party.

The Republican party always has been predominantly a conservative party. It has fought vigorously against what it considers abuses of power and centralization of government. It has opposed efforts to put the government in business in competition with private enterprise.

For decades it has insisted on fiscal soundness but in recent years the Republican national platforms to a large extent have resembled those of the Democrats. Deficit spending has been acquiesced in, and there has been no concerted effort by either Republican or Democratic administrations to keep expenses or taxes down.

There are those politicians who say the Republicans would be better off to woo the independent or so-called liberal vote and to forget about the conservatives, as they would vote Republican anyhow.

THE CONSERVATIVE Republicans, on the other hand, argue that the independents, who today think largely along the lines of the Democrats, are bound to support the Democratic nominee rather than the Republican.

It's the conservative vote, however, which has not been fully mobilized in any recent election, by the Republicans.

Many of the conservative Republicans have felt that there was not much difference between the candidates and have failed to vote. Many of the Southern conservatives have continued to vote Democratic for local reasons.

Sen. Goldwater declares flatly that the Republican party is different from the Democratic party. He insists that in the Republican party the essential emphasis is on individual liberty, while the Democrats believe in the extension of governmental power—with the presidential office itself intervening in the private enterprise system and impairing the rights of the individual citizen.

The Arizona senator says he wants to see a "clear choice" between candidates who espouse really differing viewpoints.

One of the main issues—perhaps the one that will prove most influential in the outcome of the next election if Sen. Goldwater is nominated on the Republican side—is the civil rights controversy. On the surface, this appears to be mainly concerned with discrimination in schooling or in jobs, but basically the issue has deeper roots.

IT NOW has penetrated the

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 8, the 8th day of 1964. There are 358 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1889, a patent was awarded for the first practical tabulating machine invented by Dr. Herman Hollerith.

Through The Years

10 YEARS AGO—Nothing was reported missing although Kelly's Service Station at the corner of E. Pershing St. and S. Lincoln Ave. was broken into last night.

Chester Brautigam, director of the American Legion Quaker City Band, reported that 39 persons attended the first practice last night.

25 YEARS AGO—Baptist and Friends both with 3-0 records are tied for the lead in the Church Basketball League at the Memorial Building.

Reilly suffered a 14-12 loss to St. Paul's in Mickey McGuire basketball action last night.

35 YEARS AGO—A petition by residents asking the city the possibility of getting "soft" water for the city was submitted at Council's regular meeting last night.

R. W. Hilgendorf, a teacher at the high school, will be guest speaker when the Salem Rotary Club meets Tuesday.

private life of the citizens in the North as well as the South.

The federal government, under the Democratic administration, has shown a willingness to reach into every community in the land to tell the citizen to whom he may sell his property or to tell the owners of retail stores or rooming houses the customers with whom they must deal, irrespective of the impact of all this on other customers.

There are signs that the civil rights issue is becoming as bitter in the North as it has been in the South. No candidate other than Sen. Goldwater reflects the protest of so many voters over the handling of this question by the Democratic administration.

There are, of course, other causes of discontent among Republican voters, notably the rise of a labor union monopoly in America which is believed to threaten the future of the free-enterprise system itself.

The theory that every worker must join a union to keep a job is endorsed by even some of the aspirants for the Republican presidential nomination, who object to state legislation which forbids any interference with the right to work and prohibits coercion by unions.

SEN. GOLDWATER has spoken forthrightly on all these issues and his views doubtless will be the target of attack by the other Republican candidates between now and the national convention in July. But the significance of his entry into the Republican contest is that millions of Republican voters happen to agree with him.

If he should be turned down by the Republican convention, the party might lose a substantial number of votes. Many of the Goldwater followers, it is believed, are likely to stay away from the polls because they would see little difference between the Democratic nominee and what they deem a "me-too" Republican.

If, however, Sen. Goldwater is nominated, can he win? Oddly enough, this is of less concern to most of the conservative Republicans than would seem logical. For if there is a continuing prosperity and a mood of international peace, no Republican candidate is likely to win.

IN THE FACE of such a contingency, and looking more toward future elections, the strategy of the Republican conservatives will be to make as strong a race as possible this time in the hope of indoctrinating as many voters as possible with what they term an intelligent conservatism as opposed to what they describe as a reckless liberalism.

Another prime objective would be to elect more conservative Republicans in both houses of Congress.

If Sen. Goldwater is rejected by the national convention, a decisive blow will be dealt to the spirit of militancy which in recent years has grown among young conservatives as well as old.

So more is at stake in the possible nomination of Senator Goldwater than the fortunes of a particular individual. It could fundamentally affect the future of the two-party system itself.

The machine was extensively used for the first time in compiling statistics of the 1890 U.S. census.

On this date:

In 1815, U.S. forces defeated the British in the Battle of New Orleans.

In 1918, President Woodrow Wilson issued his famous Fourteen Points on the essential nature of a post-world War settlement.

In 1934, the Supreme Court upheld the Minnesota emergency law establishing a moratorium on foreclosure of mortgages.

In 1942, British troops in Malaya withdrew north of Kuala Lumpur during World War II.

In 1946, President Truman defended the Army against complaints that servicemen were not being mustered out fast enough following World War II.

Five years ago—Fidel Castro and 5,000 of his victorious rebels were given a delirious welcome to Havana.

Like Man Condemned to Gymnasium

LBJ Faces Endless Workout In 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — For President Johnson 1964, which will be the most intense year of his life, is like being condemned to a gymnasium. It is going to be an endless workout. That seems to be the way he wants it.

Johnson was 46 and President Dwight D. Eisenhower 64 when they had their heart attacks in 1955. It laid them both up for months. Thereafter Eisenhower carefully paced himself through six more years of the presidency.

Johnson did the opposite. Starting the day after he left the hospital, he invited newspaper reporters to his home. He gave the impression of a man raring to go, which is probably the exact impression he wanted to give.

At any rate, he seemed to take his heart attack as an invitation to pitch harder.

After some months of rest that year Johnson returned to his job as Democratic majority leader in the Senate and resumed his hectic pace. Then in 1960, when he had to campaign for the vice presidency, he outdid even his Senate energy.

Johnson, in his almost three years under President John F. Kennedy, continued to spread his physical effort like jam over days and nights as he whipped around making speeches and on foreign trips assigned him by Kennedy.

In all this, since Johnson was a completely secondary figure in the Kennedy administration, he was not under severe tension. Kennedy was the one who had to endure that. He was the one who had to make decisions and do the struggling.

Now Johnson gets the full load of the physical and mental activity which go with the presidency, plus its tensions. In short, 1964 will be the greatest year of strain in his life.

Just the physical part of it is a kind of physical torture the handshaking, the reception lines the speechmaking, the banquets maybe trips abroad, battles with Congress, the need to stay in camera focus.

On top of it all, will come the campaign for election.

In less than two months in office he has put a far heavier physical strain on himself than even the very active Kennedy.

Johnson seems unable to sit quietly and, so far as newsmen are concerned, to stop talking. He bounces in and out, up and down, consults with advisers, holds instant news conferences, meets with his Cabinet, hunts deer, gives personally conducted tours of his Texas ranch, keeps talking, has barbecues, strolls the streets, makes pronouncements, orders people around — he's noted for that — and keeps talking.

There's no reason to think this won't be his routine for the rest of the year. How does all this set with a man who had a truly bad heart attack eight years ago? So far it seems to have worked all right.

Just a month ago one of his doctors, looking back over Johnson's eight years since the attack, says, "He has done beautifully. I don't know of anyone who gets up earlier, goes to bed later, works harder, and gets more done without any trouble than the President. He tolerates stresses that most people can't."

'Orient Express' Was Uneventful But Good

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Another illusion was demolished Tuesday night as NBC lightheartedly stripped the glamor from the famous Orient Express, the once great train that travels bi-weekly from Paris through seven countries to Istanbul.

It was partly because correspondent Edwin Newman's trip was so completely uneventful and uncomfortable that the record of the journey was a perfectly delightful hour of television. To be thoroughly savored, it had to be seen in color. The scenery and the quick tours of cities along the route were magnificent.

Newman, looking every inch a man of sinister mystery, boarded the train in Paris by night, chatting merrily about the reputation of the trains, beloved by writers like Agatha Christie and Graham Greene. From 1883 on it carried royalty, millionaires and probably even international thieves and spies in sumptuous style across Europe.

By morning, Newman was in Switzerland addressing himself to a fine breakfast in a nice if not lavish dining car. It was the last square meal he ate until the train finally reached the shores of the Black Sea six hours later.

Passengers included a French diplomatic courier who ate ham sandwiches in his compartment throughout the long trip, and an assortment of peasants, soldiers, pilgrims and business men who spent most of their time dozing.

Real stars of the show were the cameramen who shot the beautiful sights along the way. Even without dining cars or assassins, it was a wonderful trip for the armchair traveler.

The NBC show that preceded the special, "Mafia Man," of the Richard Boone series, concentrated on today's most glamorous means of transportation—the transatlantic jet airplane.

Boone played a Cosa Nostra big shot returning from Italy under heavy guard to tell of his nefarious activities. On the plane was an assassin disguised as a priest, an ailing Indian potentate and a beautiful, mysterious woman. It was straight action-adventure, exactly the

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling. Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains, 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation, 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. kind of thing that, a generation ago, would have taken place on the Orient Express.

The script was the last written by Clifford Odets before his death last summer and apparently it was one he tossed off with his left hand. Boone, as the gangster with a heart of gold, over-played a bit as he seems to do often lately. He was dying bravely at the fade-out.

FORMER SHERIFF DIES

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—William S. Souter, 72, Erie County Sheriff from 1937-1948, died in Good Samaritan Hospital Tuesday after several weeks' illness.

Souter also was clerk of Sandusky Municipal Court from 1933-1936. On June 28, 1924, he rescued eight persons from Sandusky Bay in a tornado.

Bunker Hill Church Unit Picks Officers

Mrs. Thomas Frantz was elected president of the Wesleyan Group of Bunker Hill Methodist Church when that group entertained their families at a covardish dinner at the church Sunday following the worship service.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. Harry Smith, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. John King.

Mrs. Kenneth Heston and Mrs. Alfred Martig were hostesses and places were set for 36 at a table lighted with yellow tapers and decorated with yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the dinner Mrs. Frank Baird and Mrs. George

Lungaci presented a short devotional service. In keeping with the New Year theme Mrs. Baird read "The Family Calendar" and "Another Year is Dawning." Scripture was in charge of Mrs. Lungaci.

Secret sisters for the past year were revealed and names drawn for 1964 sisters.

Mrs. Harley Jones presided at the business meeting. The group will meet again Jan. 27 at the church.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR FOLKS: Have you ever tried baking a meat loaf in your old angel food cake pan? It's terrific!

I sometimes use this method when freezing meat loaves. The reason for it is:

As long as I'm making up a meat loaf recipe I always make enough for two. I set the second half of the meat loaf in my refrigerator until the first meat loaf is cooked.

By cooking it in an angel food cake pan I find it cooks much faster. The hole in the center of the pan speeds cooking.

Also... it's easier to cut! Try it.

After washing the dishes that night... I then have a clean pan.

I reach into the refrigerator, take out the ready prepared meat loaf and stuff it into the clean angel food cake pan.

I put this in the freezing compartment.

AS SOON as it is frozen, I take the pan and turn it upside down, hold it under the hot water faucet letting the hot water run over the bottom of the pan. The block of frozen meat loaf will come loose from the pan.

I tear a piece of foil off and lay it on the drainboard and place the angel food cake pan upside down on top of the foil and in a few minutes the beautiful ring of meat will drop onto the foil. I remove the pan, fold the foil over and place it in the freezer again.

When ready to bake this meat loaf I place it back in the same pan or bake it in a skillet. In the meantime I have that angel food cake pan if I need it for something else.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep my comforters on our beds so they won't slide off by buying one yard of matching ribbon... one inch wide.

I fold the ribbon in half, cut in two pieces and sew each piece (in the center) on the bottom part of our comforter near the corner so that it corresponds with our bed post!

These ribbons may be tied to any part of the bed or springs if there are no bed posts.)

I tie the ribbons in a bow for easy removal etc... PEARL SCOTT.

DEAR HELOISE: I wish to goodness that someone would share the secret of cleaning a burned stainless steel cooking pan.

Also, if, and when, one does get the burned food out... is

Serve Roast Beef the British Way

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

In England two accompaniments to roast ribs of beef are traditional. Yorkshire pudding and horseradish are offered with the meat. American cooks do well to follow suit.

If you're interested in a new way of making Yorkshire pudding, we can recommend the following recipe. In this rule, cornstarch is included with the flour, and it gives the pudding a tender texture.

You can, of course, serve the widely available bottled grated horseradish with the meat. But if fresh horseradish is in one of your markets, we urge you to try it.

We like to fix the fresh horseradish as we find it offered in a well-known New York restaurant specializing in roast beef.

To follow suit, pare the horseradish and grate it coarsely; spoon a little of the grated root onto small lettuce cups, one for each serving of beef and pudding.

NEW YORKSHIRE PUDDING
1 cup sifted flour, 1/2 cup corn starch, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, 1 1/4 cups milk, 1/4 cup hot drippings from roast beef.

Into a mixing bowl sift together the flour, corn starch and salt. Stir in eggs, then gradually stir in 1 cup milk, mixing until smooth.

Beat gently until slightly foamy on surface. Stir in remaining 3/4 cup milk. Pour hot drippings into a 13 by 9 by 2-inch pan. Pour in batter.

Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 10 minutes. Set oven temperature to moderate (350 degrees) and continue baking until mixture is golden brown and slightly firm on top, 25 to 30 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

the filling gives great flavor.

Although we're inclined to heat sweet yeast breads after they have been stored for a few days, we thought these delightful Twists were excellent without that overtone. Try them and see if you don't agree.

ORANGE TWISTS

1 package active dry yeast, 1/4 cup warm water, 1 cup milk, scalded, 1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 4 to 4 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 cup enriched white cornmeal, Orange Frosting Filling.

Sprinkle yeast over water; stir to dissolve. Stir together the scalded milk, butter, sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup of the flour and the egg; add dissolved yeast and cornmeal. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on a lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Shape dough into a ball; place in a greased bowl and turn to grease top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk about 1 hour.

Punch down dough; cover; let rest 10 minutes. Roll half of dough into a 12 by 8 inch rectangle. Spread with half of the Orange Frosting Filling. Cut into 12 1-inch wide strips; fold each strip in half so filling is covered; strips will now be 4 inches long.

Hold each end of strip and twist tightly in opposite directions. Seal ends firmly. Place about 1 1/2 inches apart on greased cookie sheets.

Repeat with second half of dough. Cover twists; let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 45 minutes. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven about 15 minutes. Makes 2 dozen.

Orange Frosting Filling

1/4 cup butter or margarine, soft, 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, grated rind of 1 orange.

Gradually and thoroughly beat the confectioners sugar and the orange rind into the soft butter; continue to beat if necessary until fluffy.

When there's peanut brittle in the house, crush enough to make a half cup and fold it into a cup of whipped cream. Serve over fresh white or yellow cake that is still warm from the oven, or over slices of sponge or angel-food cake.

Cooking Is Fun

By Cecily Brownstone

OLDTIME COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup plus 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon.

Cream butter with 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir in flour; chill. Roll out 1/4 - inch thick on prepared pastry cloth. Cut with a floured 2 - inch round cutter. Mix remaining 1 tablespoon sugar with the cinnamon; sprinkle evenly over dough. Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven until very lightly browned - about 25 minutes. Makes 36.

BACON-BRAN CORNBREAD

1/2 cup whole bran cereal, 1 cup cornmeal, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons soft shortening, 1 cup sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 5 slices uncooked bacon, diced.

Stir together the bran, cornmeal and milk; let stand until the bran and cornmeal absorb most of the milk. Add the egg and the shortening; beat well. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar.

Add to bran mixture, stirring only until flour mixture is moistened. Turn into a buttered 9-inch skillet with an oven-proof handle. Sprinkle with the diced bacon.

Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven about 20 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. If top crust and bacon are not browned, place under broiler for a few minutes.

Cut into 10 wedges and remove with spatula, serving piping hot.

Some sweet yeast breads are perfect. And here's a recipe

Columbiana Move Explained

Kindergarten Bus Change Is Protested

COLUMBIANA — Fifty-five persons attended the Kindergarten Mothers Club meeting Tuesday at Joshua Dixon School.

D. W. Bailey, superintendent of Columbiana Schools, and four members of the school board—Willard Ferrall, Stanley Yeager, Dale Young and J. Paul Wilms —were present to discuss the elimination of noon bus transportation service for kindergarten students to and from the school.

Bailey explained that the Columbiana school system began the 1964 year with a deficit of $26,000, which must be met by a reduction of services outside of contract services which cannot be reduced during the school year.

He said the levy which was defeated in November was not for new services but for a continuation of present services due to a reduction in state aid brought on by higher property valuation.

According to Bailey, elimination of bus transportation for kindergarten students, beginning Jan. 27, will save the schools $1,000.

He said the board is as concerned about the service reduction as anyone else but members felt obligated to meet the problems of operating the schools with a deficit in funds. Comments from the audience appeared to be that while the parents were reluctant to see the bus service dropped, they realized the necessity of doing so.

In conclusion, Bailey urged the club to support the three-mill operating levy to be placed on the May 5 primary ballot.

Program Presented

A program preceding the meeting entitled "The Mad Hatter," was presented by Miss Carolyn Duell of the information department of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company in Columbus.

Miss Duell, introduced by Mrs. Donald Gleckler, program chairman, discussed the use of gas in the perfecting of various consumer products.

Items of clothing, costume jewelry and hats worn by Miss Duell were products or by-products of natural gas. She also explained and illustrated how gas is stored for winter months.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dudley Gillham, Mrs. Ronald Campbell, Mrs. Glen Chaddock and Mrs. Ronald LaLonde.

when various equipment in his command should be replaced.

Solicitor Thomas Coe told Council that he has no report on the recent ruling by Judge Joel H. Sharp against the city paying for 270 parking meters ordered by Mayor Cranmer in August of 1961.

Coe said the ruling has not been entered in the court journal as yet at the request of counsel for the Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City, Okla., from whom the meters were purchased.

The parking meter company is considering further action, Coe said.

Kuhlman to serve in that post for 1964-65 at a salary of $1,200 per year was passed by council. $549,259 Appropriation

A $549,259.41 temporary appropriation ordinance anticipated income budget for the first three months of 1964, through March 31, was given council's approval. Last year's budget of $216,901.41 for the same period was increased because of the sewer project.

Included in the budget were the following items: General fund, $4,600; contingencies, $2,000; service, $15,900; safety, $11,999.55; water, $40,600; light, $113,000; sewer, $248,200; cemetery, $3,400; street construction, maintenance and repair, $7,400; motor vehicle gas tax, street maintenance and repair fund, $3,700.

Firestone Foundation gift park, $139.80; firemen's pension fund, $1,000; policemen's pension fund, $1,000; park fund, $2,000; general bond retirement fund, $1,319.46; parking meter fund, $2,300; special fund, $48,018.02; redemption of notes and interest, $2,582.58; cemetery trust fund, $200; and park trust fund, $100.

Leland Bricker of 47 S. Cross St. appeared at the meeting to ask when the citizens could expect a reduction in sewer rates.

Mayor Harold stated that he was in favor of a reduction, because of the government's payment of 50 per cent of the total new sewage system's cost and that he felt that the residents were entitled to a reduction in rates.

He commented further that contracts for the sewage plant and interceptor sewer were signed Monday and three plans for lowering the sewer rates were discussed and rejected.

Two more suggested reduction rates are expected to be offered for examination in the near future.

Trustees Meet Jan. 20

Action must come from the board of trustees of public affairs whose next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 20. Columbiana residents interested in a sewer rate reduction may attend.

Work on the sewer project was begun Tuesday, according to the mayor.

In other action, a $7,765 bid by Koch Motors of Columbiana for a one-half ton pick-up truck to be used by the street department was approved and accepted via an ordinance. Fred Koch was present at the meeting.

Kuhlman read an ordinance to enter into agreement with the Pennsylvania Railroad for the amount of $5,760 to go through and under its tracks in two places during construction of the interceptor sewer. The ordinance was approved. A $75 fee was required to obtain the right-of-way. The government does not share the cost of acquisition of land of right-of-way.

R. Donald Hisey, street commissioner, announced that Christmas trees will be collected Thursday and Friday. Residents are asked to place their trees at the curb.

Grand Jury Report Awaited Thursday

LISBON — The January grand jury got a little behind Tuesday afternoon but was back on schedule again today, according to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

The jury of 13 women and two men have 17 cases, with 16 witnesses scheduled for today. On Thursday they have seven witnesses in eight cases.

Brokaw said he hopes that the grand jury will be able to report late Thursday to Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, who is handling the January grand jury and trials this term of court.

City Council Gets Year-End Report For Mayor's Office

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer reported to City Council last night that his office handled $23,453.50 during 1963.

A break-down of the figure shows $800 from the issuance of licenses, $200 from intoxicant tests, $14,772.10 from ordinance fines and forfeitures, $1,644.60 in ordinance fees, $3,226 for city overloads (five months), $330 for parking permits, $802.89 for city's share of state patrol cases, $656.91 for state's share of patrol cases, $350.60 for state fees, $666 for county fees and $4.40 for return of over - payment of fine.

Election Staff Back From Columbus

Three officials of the Columbiana County election board returned Tuesday from Columbus where they attended the annual meeting of the Ohio Association of Election Officials.

The group included Don R. Gosney of Columbiana and Atty. James L. McSweeney of Wells-ville, members, and Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, clerk. Gosney is a holdover member of the association's board of trustees.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and members of his staff discussed election laws and administration for this year's primaries and general election, emphasizing the importance of selecting qualified persons as precinct judges and clerks. Election boards traditionally have accepted the recommendations made by the Republican and Democratic precinct committees.

Brown warned the May 5 primaries may be difficult to handle because of the large number of names anticipated. Each party will have a ballot listing the names of delegates and alternates to the national conventions along with ballots listing state, district and county candidates.

so that he could do more engineering," he pointed out.

A study of the city's traffic controls was suggested by Rance as well as more action by the annexation committee, which he conceded has successfully completed the annexation of an eastern part of Perry Township.

"I think we should get started on some of these problems so that we can either get them solved or come to the honest conclusion that there are no answers for them," Rance said.

The councilman is personnel director for the E. W. Bliss Co.

Franklin Trustees Name John Wargo

John Wargo was elected president of the Franklin Township trustees when the group met Monday. Forrest Thompson was elected vice president.

The trustees reappointed Forrest Young police constable and approved bond for Miss Coletta Kelley, clerk, and Thompson.

Paul Dowdell, retiring president, announced that the snow-plow for the truck had been repaired.

Meetings will continue the first and third Mondays of each month.

Young reported that 300 miles were patrolled, one accident was investigated and five warnings were issued during December.

dition to North Carolina.

The extradition order was appealed through the courts on grounds that Mrs. Mallory's rights would be violated, that she could not be guaranteed a fair trial in Monroe.

The courts have taken the position consistently that they have no precedent for a ruling based on the anticipation that a person's civil rights might be violated through removal to another state.

Appeals have been made also to Gov. James A. Rhodes, but he has refused to intervene. A group of Cleveland ministers appealed to the governor last week on behalf of Mrs. Mallory.

Another last - minute appeal was launched Tuesday night by The Congress of Racial Equality, which asked A. L. DeMaio, Republican county chairman here, to use his influence with the governor.

Haffner said he learned Monday that the Supreme Court had refused his request for a rehearing of Mrs. Mallory's appeal—actually the second appeal that had been made through the courts.

The attorney said he acted immediately to file another action, this time a request for a writ of habeas corpus, contending that Mrs. Mallory was unjustly detained.

The attorney said he filed along with the habeas corpus action the request for a stay of execution. Such an order, he said, would allow Mrs. Mallory to remain free on bond.

With Patients

Mrs. John Olloman of 1485 E. 3rd St. is a patient at Valley View Nursing Home.

Gerald Oprandi, 25, of Beloit received contusions and abrasions of the left foot when a steel plate dropped while at work at the Alliance Structural Steel Co. He was treated at 1:15 p. m. Tuesday at the Alliance City hospital.

Duane Eick, 21, of RD 2, Salem, was treated at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Alliance City Hospital for contusions of the chest received while at work at the Salona Supply Co.

Robert Knock, 26, of RD 2, Salem, was treated at 1:20 p.m. Tuesday at the Alliance hospital for an abdominal wound received when pierced by a piece of steel while at work at the Bonney Forge Co. at Alliance.

David Russell, 17, son of Clarence Russell of Beloit, who injured his right hand in a door at school, was treated at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Alliance hospital.

HEALTH BOARD TO MEET

LISBON—The executive committee of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council will send representatives to the regular meeting of the County Health Board Jan. 20.

At its meeting last night, the committee also set up final plans for its quarterly meeting to be held Jan. 28 in the county extension offices.

Johnson Lowers Budget

the decision by declaring: "We must not stockpile arms beyond our needs or seek an excess of military power that could be provocative as well as wasteful."

"As far as the writ of federal law will run," said the President, "we must abolish not some but all racial discrimination." He emphasized that he wants a civil rights law that will include a ban on discrimination by private businesses serving the general public—the most controversial item in the measure now pending in the House.

"This administration here and now declares unconditional war on poverty in America," Johnson declared. He said he will propose cooperative federal-state-local programs to promote "better schools, better health, better homes, better training and better job opportunities."

He asked Congress to set up special committees empowered to increase the time-and-a-half overtime pay rate in industries "where consistently excessive use of overtime causes increased unemployment." He did not name any industries or suggest alternative overtime pay scales.

The United States, Johnson announced, will make "new proposals," which he did not specify, at Geneva disarmament talks later this month.

He is determined to try to put a man on the moon by 1970 — "in cooperation with other powers if possible, alone if necessary." This echoed a September proposal by Kennedy for a joint American - Soviet moon program — an idea that got a cool reception in Moscow.

Johnson's message, the shortest State of the Union report since 1934, cited these broad goals of national policy: "A nation that is free from want and a world that is free from hate, a world of peace and justice, freedom and abundance, for our time and for all time to come."

Johnson said "our ultimate goal is a world without war." In this connection, he said the United States at Geneva will suggest new steps "toward the control and eventual abolition of arms."

But even in the absence of a disarmament agreement, he said, weapons must not be stockpiled on a wasteful and provocative scale.

"It is in this spirit," he said, "that in this fiscal year we are cutting back our production of enriched uranium by 25 per cent, shutting down four plutonium piles and closing many non-essential military installations. And it is in this spirit that we call on our adversaries to do the same."

Enriched uranium is used in a broad variety of atomic weapons and small, specialized reactors, and in the triggering devices for hydrogen bombs. The plutonium piles are reactors that manufacture plutonium — a fissionable material with much the same uses as enriched uranium.

While Johnson did not say so specifically in his message, he implied that reduced output of uranium and plutonium would lead to reduced production of nuclear weapons.

Johnson's emphasis in the domestic field was on proposals to wage "all-out war on human poverty and unemployment in these United States." Most of the ideas he endorsed were generated during the Kennedy administration.

"Let us carry forward the plans and programs of John Fitzgerald Kennedy — not because of our sorrow or sympathy — but because they are right," Johnson said. And he followed up with a passage that took note of the November presidential and congressional elections.

"In his (Kennedy's) memory, I especially ask all members of my own political faith—in this election year — to put country ahead of party, and to debate principles, not personalities."

At least one antiparty proposal — involving overtime pay — bore the Johnson stamp.

The President said that while he opposes the idea of a 35-hour week, he is equally opposed to the 45- or 50-hour week in those industries which consistently schedule overtime work.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said last week that elimination of overtime would create the equivalent of 919,000 fulltime jobs. The aim of higher overtime pay would be to encourage employers to hire additional workers rather than schedule overtime work.

In the area of economics, Johnson laid greatest stress on the House-passed tax cut bill. Until the measure is enacted, he said, "its investment incentives cannot be deemed certain" and the basic rate for withholding taxes from take-home pay cannot be cut from 15 per cent to 14 per cent. The latter move would increase U.S. wage earners' after-tax income by $200 million a month — an amount that would be immediately available for spending or investment.

The three school buildings have undergone a good cleaning during the holidays.

The board also discussed the purchase of a new scrubber for Lincoln School and custodian responsibilities at the three schools and memoria stadium. It also discussed next year's calendar, and toyed with idea to start school before labor day.

Bills of $38,977.69 were ordered paid, $34,189.41 for payrolls, $3,978.08 supplies and expenses and $810.20 to county auditor.

The board's next meeting will be Feb. 11.

Busses

a news conference in Washington. State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said: "It certainly does not help our efforts to isolate the Cuban regime and thereby weaken its economy."

Cuba's bus transportation system has been badly hurt because it can't import spare parts from the United States for its many U.S.-built vehicles. Cuba has been gradually replacing busses with vehicles made in Communist bloc countries.

To enforce its embargo, the United States has banned from its ports foreign ships carrying cargo to Cuba. Under 1962 legislation, the President also is empowered to withhold foreign aid from any nation trading with Cuba.

AUXILIARY TO MEET

Northwest Tea Loaf

By GAYNOR MADDOX

A reader asks, "what is a filbert nut?" Here's the answer and an easy recipe:

The filbert is a cousin of the hazelnut. They are larger and some say more flavorful, due in part to specialized care and the rich Oregon soil in which they grow. Filberts are rich in nutrients.

OREGON FILBERT TEA LOAF (1 loaf)

¾ cup chopped filberts, 3 cups biscuit mix, ½ teaspoon cardamom, ½ cup milk, ½ cup honey, 1 egg, beaten, ½ cup sherry wine or ½ cup milk, grated peel of 1 lemon.

Toast shelled filberts at 275 degrees for 20 minutes. Stir filberts and cardamom into biscuit mix. Mix together milk, honey, egg, wine or milk and lemon peel. Combine the two mixtures only until blended. Pour into 9x3-inch greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes.

Remove from oven and let stand on cool surface for 5 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool.

VERMONT DATE BREAD

'Magic Mountain' recipe recalls days of yore in Vermont when flour was hand milled and the stone oven was king. Recapture this aromatic memory by following this easy recipe for Vermont Date Bread. You need:

1½ cups boiling water, 1 cup dates, prunes or raisins, 1 cup oat cereal, ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, 1 egg, beaten, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon salt.

Pour boiling water over chopped dates, raisins or prunes and oats. Let stand 20 minutes. Add sugar, egg, flour mixed and sifted with soda and salt, and shortening. Mix well, place in greased bread tin and bake 1 hour in oven at 350 degrees. Nuts may be added to this mixture if desired.

MINCEMEAT TARTS

8 baked tart shells, 4 cups prepared mincemeat, Vanilla ice cream.

Prepare and bake tart shells by your favorite recipe. Just before serving time, fill tart shells with prepared mincemeat and heat in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven about 15 minutes, or until warm.

Serve tarts topped with vanilla ice cream. Makes 8 4-inch tarts.

Recipe may be doubled, if desired.

CHICKEN PINEAPPLE SALAD

½ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 cups cubed (1 inch) cooked chicken, 1½ cups paper-thin celery crescents, salt and white pepper to taste, salad greens, 1 can (about 9 ounces) sliced pineapple, drained.

In a large bowl stir together the mayonnaise, sour cream and lemon juice; mix in chicken and celery; add salt and pepper. Arrange on salad greens; top with pineapple. Makes 4 hearty servings.

Note: A steamed or simmered large roasting chicken will yield the amount of breast meat needed for this recipe.

Mixed Nut Torte Is Delicious

NUT TORTE — The cakelike layers utilize ground nuts plus a few tablespoons of bread crumbs instead of flour, and the dessert is filled and frosted with whipped cream.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

What some people like about cooking is that there's always a new cuisine to conquer.

Some of the most interesting foreign desserts are those that come from Austria, and of these the most famous are tortes. For these, airy cakelike layers—concocted of ground nuts and a few tablespoons of fine dry bread crumbs plus eggs, sugar and flavoring—are sandwiched together and covered with whipped cream.

Here is an up-to-date American version of the nut torte using the comparatively new dry toasted nuts that come in jars. It's okay to bake the torte layers a few days before you plan to serve them.

Covered tightly with transparent plastic wrap, they may be kept at room temperature, refrigerated or freezer-stored. The whipped cream for the filling shortly before offering.

Although the layers of this torte are as light as sponge cake, you'll find small portions of the dessert are in order if you're serving it at the end of a regular dinner. Make the portions bigger if it's to end a soup-and-salad lunch or supper.

MIXED NUT TORTE

1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar, 1 jar (9½ ounces) dry toasted mixed nuts, 6 eggs, separated, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs, 2 cups heavy cream.

Grease two 8-inch round layer cake pans; dust lightly with confectioners' sugar. Finely grind enough of the nuts to make 1½ cups; reserve remaining nuts for garnish. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Gradually and thoroughly beat in the sugar, about 2 tablespoons at a time.

Stir in well the lemon rind, ground nuts, and the bread crumbs. Beat the egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks; fold in the egg-yolk mixture. Turn into prepared cake pans.

Bake in a slow (325 degrees) gently with finger.

Place torte in pans on wire racks to cool completely; loosen edges with spatula and invert, easing out with fingers if necessary. Whip cream until stiff, adding sugar to taste. To one-half of whipped cream, stir in the remaining ½ cup ground mixed nuts.

Spread between torte layers. Spread remaining whipped cream on top. Garnish top with the remaining whole nuts. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

If you whip cream ahead and refrigerate it before putting it in a pastry tube with a decorator tip to use for garnishing a dessert, spoon the top fluffy part of the cream into the tube; don't use the liquid that may have seeped out in the bottom of the bowl.

Ohio U. Handed 95-93 Setback By Western Michigan

Akron Clouts Capital 86-66

Wittenberg Trims Baldwin Wallace

By The Associated Press
Ohio University fell from the ranks of the Mid-American Conference's unbeaten basketball teams Tuesday night—despite a late surge—as the Bobcats came out on the short end of a 95-93 score at Western Michigan.

The Bobcats were trailing by 15 points with three minutes left at Kalamazoo. Mike Haley and substitute Tom Davis sparked the rally that put Ohio just two points behind at the finish.

Ohio's chances also were hurt by the departure on fouls, with eight minutes to go, of Don Hilt, 6-foot-8 forward.

The loss was Ohio's third in 10 games overall, and its first in three league games. Western Michigan's MAC mark evened off at 1-1.

Manny Newsome, one of the nation's leading scorers, poured in 39 points to lead the Broncos to their fourth victory in 11 games overall.

Four games were played in the Ohio Conference, with pace-setting Capital losing its first loop game to Akron, 86-66. Rebounds largely told the story in that one. The inspired Zips pulled down 67 and the Crusaders got only 46. Capital now is 5-1 in the conference while Akron is 3-1.

Terry Marsh led Akron with 21 points but Jim DeBerry of Capital took scoring honors with 35.

Wittenberg made eight of its first nine field goal tries and went on to overwhelm Baldwin-Wallace 86-52 on B-W's home boards. Bob Cherry led the Tigers to their fourth OC victory in five starts. B-W slipped to 1-2 in the loop.

Denison beat down a late rally by Marietta and nipped the Pioneers 60-52, and Muskingum dumped Wooster 76-58.

In non-conference frays, George Deveny scored 31 points to lead Oberlin over Case Tech 71-61, and Wilberforce coasted to a 108-79 victory over Malone of Canton. Larnel Hight and Leroy Gaines each hit 18 for Wilberforce, which won its seventh game in nine outings.

Edinboro (Pa.) overcame a two-point halftime deficit and beat Penn 94-82. Wilbert Barnhardt led the winners with 27 points, but Mike O'Brien of Penn paced all scorers with 29.

Used Plaster of Paris In Willard Fight

Story Reveals Dempsey Used Loaded Gloves In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Another ghost from the past has risen to haunt Jack Dempsey. Now they are claiming he used loaded gloves in 1919 when he won the world heavyweight boxing title from Jess Willard.

The story is revealed in the memoirs of the late Jack (Doc) Kearns, his manager at the time, as published Wednesday in a copyrighted feature in Sports Illustrated. Dempsey denied it in the same article.

Kearns claimed he used plaster of paris and water in bandaging Dempsey's hands to insure a 10-1 bet of $10,000 that Dempsey would win it in one round. Kearns lost, for due to a comedy of errors Dempsey won in three rounds.

Dempsey's ex-manager said the fighter was "entirely innocent of what happened."

The article quoted Dempsey as commenting, "Ridiculous! I could take an oath. In fact I will I hope to God I die right now, and my wife and children, too, if there is any truth in what Kearns said."

Dempsey was out of town and couldn't be reached immediately for further comment.

A month ago Benny Marshall of the Birmingham News wrote that Dempsey had been doped before his first fight with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia. At the time, Dempsey said he was not sick the day of the fight but added, "a doctor told me the next day, 'I'd probably been given a Mickey Finn and I probably was ill for three or four days after that.'"

In reference to the 1919 bout, Willard, now 82, told Sports Illustrated:

"I'm glad that Kearns finally was man enough to admit it. First time Dempsey hit me, I knew the gloves were loaded. He knocked me down seven times, maybe eight. I don't recall exactly now. But every time he hit me, I could feel another bone or two breaking. I got robbed by the king of the robbers, I guess we could say. That Kearns. As long as I got robbed, I'm glad I got robbed by the best man in the country at stealing ... Nobody ever knocked me out. But I was blind. I was dazed from getting clobbered by those chunks of cement. My face was all broken, and my head was, too."

Finley Confident A's Shift Will Be Approved By League

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — For the next eight days, until owners of American League teams meet in New York, the question of whether Kansas City or Louisville has a baseball team named the Athletics will be subject to conjecture. And words.

Owner Charles O. Finley, who signed a two-year contract Monday to shift the A's franchise to Louisville, says he is confident the owners "will approve my move when they have had an opportunity to analyze the true facts."

A majority of owners have indicated otherwise.

"He isn't going to Louisville," Chicago White Sox Owner Arthur Alyn said Tuesday. "Mr. Finley's action is absolutely inexcusable. He has an obligation to Kansas City and I'm going to see that he lives up to it."

It was reported Finley might charge the other owners with restraint of trade if they thwart his move.

Finley called the report "another perfect example of a manufactured lie," and added, "If the owners veto the move I will face that when it happens. But I am very confident nothing like that will occur."

Post Office, Concrete Win Volleyball Games

The Post Office and Salem Concrete swept to 3-0 victories in the City Volleyball League at the Memorial Building Tuesday.

Jacobites dropped 15-11, 15-2, and 15-13 games to the Post Office, while United Eagles were beaten 15-0, 15-8 and 15-7 by Salem Concrete.

Tuesday's Fight
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK — Hubert Hilton, 191, Glen Cove, N.Y., outpointed Ray Patey, 195, New York, 8.

Kansas City officials, who failed in weeks of negotiations to reach agreement on a Municipal Stadium lease, maintained what Mayor Ilus W. Davis is called "discreet silence."

Davis and City Manager Carleton Sharpe had requested American League assistance before Finley announced his planned move. They'll attend the league meeting in New York Jan. 16.

Finley was asked in Louisville if he had any new offers to sell the club he bought in 1960 from the estate of Arnold Johnson.

"I haven't had any new offers," Finley said. "It would not make any difference if I did. The club is not for sale."

98 Per Cent Of College Grid Coaches Support Unlimited Substitution Rule

NEW YORK (AP) — Although supported by 98 per cent of the coaches, the free substitution rule is unlikely to come back to college football next year.

Most observers attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association meetings here agreed that some changes would be made but the return of the unhampered two-platoon system appeared remote.

"I think we will get a rule similar to that in 1962," said

Frank Broyles of Arkansas. "It enabled players to go both ways and at the same time it permitted the use of offensive and defensive teams as a unit."

Ivy Williamson, athletic director of the University of Wisconsin sin and chairman of the rules committee, said his group would listen carefully to proposals of the coaches.

"We will hear from the outgoing president of the Coaches Association, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, as well as the new president, Len Casanova of Oregon," Williamson said.

"We will seek to arrive at the system that is best for all concerned. It is true, however, that the rules committee does not always go along with the sentiment of the coaches."

Meanwhile, two of the nation's leading coaches, Darrell Royal of Texas and Pete Elliott of Illinois, found themselves on opposite sides of the fence on the issue.

"I'm against unlimited substitution," said Royal, who led the Longhorns through an unbeaten season and to the national championship. "I think we coaches are beginning to look foolish changing the rules every year."

Elliott said, "I'll have to go along with the rest of the coaches. I think it would be a better game if we had unlimited substitution."

A poll conducted by the Coaches Association showed 98 per cent in favor of using substitutes without restriction, in the fashion of the pros.

Williamson's group, consisting of coaches and administrators, will meet at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 11 to study the football code.

At Oklahoma City University, more than at any other college in the country, everyone looks up to the basketball players.

Most of them are as high as an elephant's eye. Kneeling.

The Chiefs claim the tallest starting team in the country at an average of 6-foot-7 2-5. The previous record was 6-7 1-5, set by Oklahoma City University last year.

The 6-7 1-5 Chiefs were 19-10 last year. The 6-7 2-5 Chiefs are 10-3 this year, and apparently improving with height.

A leading independent year in and year out, the Chiefs continued their bid for a national ranking Tuesday night by overcoming a 16-point deficit and whipping Loyola of New Orleans 91-86 in overtime behind a tall, talented trio who produced 70 points.

Eddie Jackson, a 7-footer, led the Chiefs with 25 points, 6-2 Jerry Wells contributed 25 and 6-6 Bud Koper added 21, the three turning the tide in overtime after Loyola's Gene Turni-sent the game into an extra period with a jump shot in the final minute.

While Oklahoma City was bidding for national honors, fifth-ranked Davidson and ninth-ranked Villanova breezed to easy victories. Undeclared Davidson downed VMI 70-58 for its 11th victory and Villanova won its sixth straight by wallowing St. Francis, N.Y., 84-48.

Elsewhere, sophomore Ernie Thompson scored 25 points as Bradley crushed Centenary 91-69, Billy Foster connected for 29 points in Drake's 93-68 thumping of Purdue. Gene Elmore scored 23 points and collected 17 rebounds as SMU defeated Baylor 85-65 and Barry Rodriguez's layup with 24 seconds left gave Rice a 61-60 decision over Texas Tech.

In other major games, Portland beat Oregon 61-58, Texas AM crushed TCU 92-64, Arkansas nipped Texas 58-53, Providence defeated Massachusetts 89-73, Western Michigan edged Ohio U. 95-93, Georgetown beat Canisius 87-78 and Cornell took Florida Southern 97-87.

Davidson built a 53-38 lead midway in the second half before VMI regained the momentum and cut the deficit to 53-47 on baskets by Bobby Watson, Chuck Schmaus and Joe Kruszewski. Fred Hetzel and Dick Snyder then gave the Wildcats a 60-49 lead and put it out of reach. Hetzel led the scorers with 22 points while Snyder scored 16.

The Wildcats of Villanova brought their record to 10-1 by reaching to a 50-27 lead that was more than enough against St. Francis. Jim Washington was high for the winners with 17 points while George Leftwich had 15 and Bill Melchionni and Richie Moore 12 each.

STAMP HUNTING — If you've ever gone hunting (waterfowl, not stamps), you'll know that you have to purchase a Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp. Each year, the Department of Interior does a little hunting of its own; it has a contest for a new design for the stamp. This year, Stanley Stearns of Stevensville, Md., drew the winning design. It pictures a pair of Nene geese (pronounced "nay-nay") standing on the volcanic slopes of Hawaii. The Nene, one of the rarest waterfowl in the world, may not be hunted, even though it appears on the stamp, which goes on sale July 1, 1964.

3 Highly-Ranked Fighters Being Considered For Floyd

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Boxing promoters planning the next fight for former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson have drawn up a list headed by three high-ranked contenders — Eddie Machen, Zora Folley and Henry Cooper.

Tom ar. Al Bolan, who promoted Patterson's two fights against heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, and Edwin Ahlquist, former adviser of retired Ingemar Johansson, met Tuesday to plan Patterson's next fight. Patterson stopped Italy's Sante Amonti in the eighth round Monday night.

"We know that Machen would welcome a fight in Goteborg, where he was stopped by Johansson in the first round of a 1958 fight," said Ahlquist. "However, we have to await the outcome of the Henry Cooper-Brian London fight."

The two will fight Feb. 24 for the vacant European heavyweight title. London is out as an opponent for Patterson, who knocked him out in 1959. Cooper was ranked seventh in the latest World Boxing Association ratings. Machen was No. 4 and Folley No. 6.

Game Warden

Jim Kelley, 21, is the new Columbiana County wildlife protector.

His duties include game law enforcement, hunter safety, patrol and public relations. Before his present assignment, he was in the Fish Management Department at Cambridge.

Kelley, who resides at RD 4, Guilford, will marry Carole Linard of Scio, Feb. 8. He replaces Rufus Lide, who retired last spring.

Wildlife Notes

There were 59 arrests made by Ohio Division of Wildlife fieldmen as the result of various hunting violations during the two-day deer gun season, Dec. 12 and 13.

"This should do much to strengthen respect for deer hunting regulations in Ohio," commented Dale E. Whitesell, division chief.

Fifteen hunters were apprehended for hunting without a deer permit, 14, hunting without permission; seven, hunting deer with a rifle; six, hunting or taking deer before legal hours; five, failure to check or tag deer; one, back-dating and forging a deer permit; one, sale of a deer; one, attempting to take more than one deer; one, hunting on the small game license of another; and five, hunting without a license. Three arrests were made for shining fields for deer while the hunters had guns in their possession.

THE DEER HARVEST at the U. S. Ravena Arsenal, Portage County, has been concluded as 114 sportsmen took 86 deer on Dec. 28, the last day of gun hunting on this area.

This is the word from Ron Millar, district supervisor at Akron for the Ohio Division of Wildlife, who closely followed the results of this special hunt during the season.

Arsenal officials had set a harvest goal of 500 prior to the season's opening, but hunting success and the amount of sign present indicated a larger deer population than they at first estimated.

Hunting conditions continued favorable as snow cover made it easy for sportsmen to sight deer.

Howard Asks For Sizeable Pay Increase

By JOE REICLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It seems only a short time ago when Yogi Berra was teaching Elton Howard, a converted outfielder, how to position himself at the plate. This year, the pupil will be taking down more money in salary than his teacher.

When Howard eventually gets around to signing his 1964 New York Yankee contract, it will be for approximately $60,000. Berra, who has given up the mask and mitt to concentrate all his energies on managing the Yankees, already has signed for a reported $40,000.

Yogi's highest salary was $57,500. While Howard declined to reveal his 1963 salary it is believed he drew down $50,000. He earned every penny of it as attested by his winning the American League's Most Valuable Player award.

"I expect to get a pretty good raise," said Ellie today. "That MVP award ought to be worth something."

"I don't expect any trouble. I've never had any before. The Yankees always have treated me fairly."

Howard said he expects to sit down with Ralph Houk, the Yankee general manager, some time next week. Houk returns from his vacation next Sunday.

Howard was in town representing a sporting goods outfit at the Sports Show here. Part of his duty is autographing catching mitts for customers.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

I have six very nice upholstered children's rocking chairs which I am going to give to six children, six years of age or younger.

If you have a child age 6 or under register at the check out the next time you are out this way. You might be the winner of one of these fine chairs.

We realize the importance of children in the grocery business. Without them in not too many years we would all be out of business.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Cases of Mongoloid Children

"Why," the distraught parents of a Mongoloid child will ask, "did it happen to us?" Their question deserves firm answers.

Dr. Brandstadt

A mongoloid condition is characterized by mental retardation which varies in severity. Some Mongoloids achieve the level of a 9- or 10-year-old child, but most of them are not so fortunate.

The eyes slant from the center of the face upward, and physical growth is slow. The condition can usually be recognized at birth, but in some cases, it is not manifest for three or four months.

It has been estimated that with women under 25, Mongolism occurs in about 1 in 1,800 births, but there is a definite increase in the rate of Mongoloid births as the age of the mother advances. About a third of all cases occur to mothers over 40.

MONGOLISM is not the result of neglect or any other controllable factor, as far as can be seen today. It has been shown to result from a faulty division in the earliest stage of the development of the fertilized egg and the resulting production of an extra chromosome.

Other factors may be present. A group of Australian observers found that Mongolism occurred in "outbreaks" under circumstances that were suggestive of a virus infection. It has also been observed that a high proportion of the parents of Mongoloids are unable to taste bitter substances such as quinine.

Thus, a combination of factors may determine whether a child will be born with this handicap.

As for the victims, their chances of survival have been greatly improved. They used to die before reaching their mid-teens, usually of pneumonia or rheumatic heart disease. Modern antibiotics and better general care are keeping them alive into their late 20s or early 30s.

Although not bright, they are usually well-behaved. When the condition is recognized, and the parents learn not to expect too much from them, they find in many instances that patient care will be rewarded with more intelligent behavior than was originally predicted.

Q—What is the Waterhouse-Friedrickson syndrome? How does it cause death within a matter of a few hours? Is this a common disease?

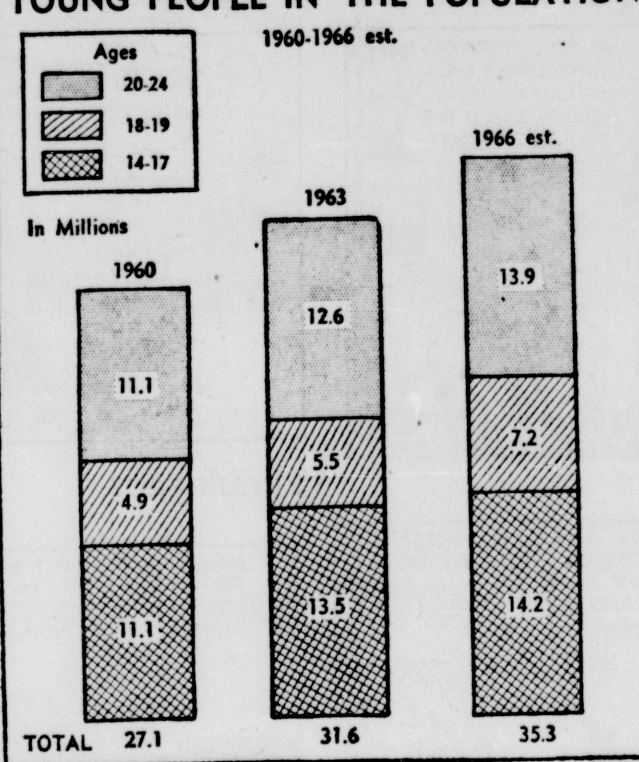

A—This term refers to the shock associated with bleeding into the adrenals. It may occur as a result of a sudden overwhelming infection such as meningitis or blood poisoning. It causes the victim to become suddenly blue, cold and clammy. Breathing becomes fast, and small hemorrhages appear under the skin. The victim rapidly goes into a coma, and survival is rare. The condition is not common, especially since the advent of antibiotics.

YOUNG PEOPLE IN THE POPULATION

MORE TEENERS — Young persons 14 to 24 years of age should make up about 18 per cent of the population in 1966 compared with 17 per cent in 1963 and 15 per cent in 1960. Greatest growth is likely to occur in the 18-19 age group, see chart above. A 30 per cent increase is likely to be seen over the next three years. This contrasts with a 13 per cent growth from 1960 to 1963. Second in line is the 14-17 age group followed by the 20-24 year olds. Greatest impact on economy of this growth will be new members in the labor force, increased pressure on college facilities and expanded demand for consumer goods.

Scheming Femmes

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Here it is Leap Year again, and millions of maidens are scheming against the peace of mind of millions of bachelors.

Many will land a man, but a lot of them won't.

What is the difference between those who will succeed and those who will fail?

The difference is between good and bad feminine psychology.

Some girls look at the crop of unmarried males and are dismayed at the start.

"It's hopeless," say these girls. "All the best men are already married."

As a married man myself I can subscribe to the partial accuracy of this observation. But it reflects a defeatist attitude.

Certainly it is true that on the whole married men are more attractive than bachelors. But they weren't born more attractive. They were made more attractive by the civilizing influence of the women they married.

A wise girl realizes that this is the real challenge of matrimony — to take a mediocre, scrubby, forlorn bachelor and build him into the better man only she can help him become.

It is bad psychology for a girl to let a marital prospect suspect that she is looking for a walk to the altar chiefly in order to escape the long daily trek to her job in the office. No man likes to feel that his main function in life is to buy pork chops and pin curls for a Lazy Jane.

What are some examples of good feminine psychology?

Well, first of all, don't overdo that "Two men a mystery" act, girls. Don't be too unapproachable. Let your fellow know pretty quickly that you're fond of him.

Remember that while no man wants to be smothered, they all hanker to be mothered a bit.

As the average employer is too busy to spend his entire day patting an employee on the back, the employee looks forward to getting at home the petting he doesn't get at the office.

He wants from a potential wife the security, encouragement and approval he doesn't receive from his boss on the job.

Bachelors are wild things, and must be tamed with care.

The way to win a bachelor is to wine him and dine him and treat him with kindness and give him the feeling that life build him into the better man with you will be better and safer and — above all — more comfortable, than life is without you.

If you do this, he'll eat out of your hand, never miss his lost freedom, let you mold him as you will. Then in some future Leap Year other single girls in his office will look at your husband and say: "Gee, what chance have I got? All the best men are already married."
